WORK EXPERIENCE

iD Tech Programming Academy, New York, NY   June 2016 – August 2016
Tech Instructor
- Hosted mini-hackathons and designed teaching materials at New York University to help high school students prepare for collegiate programming competitions and understand fundamental concepts in core programming languages.
- Encouraged and orchestrated a class of students to develop their own smartphone applications through Android Studio.

JoyRun, Irvine, CA   February 2016 – June 2016
Brand Champion
- Implemented promotional campaigns to persuade college students at my school to download JoyRun, a mobile application that provides a cheap food-delivery service to the UC Irvine community.
- Employed my entrepreneurial skills to influence JoyRun's marketing strategy and maintain overall retention of users.

IAC Applications, Yonkers, NY   June 2015 – August 2015
JavaScript Engineer Intern
- Researched, developed, and tested a Google Chrome extension for users to check the live scores of their favorite teams and sports, including displays from NBA, NFL, MLB, and NHL.
- Redesigned Google's new tab page by creating an extension that shows a scrolling stock ticker when opening a new tab.
- Proposed and built a solution that improved IAC's existing toolbars by implementing a notifications feature that guides the user to enable their bookmarks bar on Chrome.

ACTIVITIES

HackUCI, Irvine, CA   September 2014 – Present
Director of Corporate Outreach
- Raised over $21,000 in sponsorship money from companies, including Cylance, Microsoft, and Restoration Media, via cold calls and emails for UC Irvine's annual hackathon, HackUCI.
- Led a team of eight members, organized weekly meetings, and managed communication between HackUCI and top sponsors to bolster long-term relations and spread hacker culture throughout Orange County.
- Renovated my club's website to inform club members and interested parties about our latest workshops and events.

Management Information Student Society, Irvine, CA   September 2015 – Present
Mentor
- Advised students with interests in business and technology by helping them select classes, learn computer programming, revise their resumes, and practice for professional interviews.

ICS Lab Tutors, Irvine, CA   Spring 2015, Fall 2015
- Created review materials, offered one-to-one tutorial sessions, and assisted 20+ students in introductory programming courses by answering questions related to lab assignments and helping students debug their code in Python.
